you. I just want to say one thing. You might answer this though maybe it isn't. I know what you're going to try, Senator Warner, and I know it's a very big thing with you that you're going to try to some place along the line here and I think I'm fair in saying this and if not I want you to say otherwise, but you're going to try some way to get 533 passed and some way to get it funded and when you fund it you break the budget, right? Now is that what you have in mind? Yesterday all day you referred to 533 to get it funded like we're in trouble on it and of course you know how some people stand on 533, that isn't quite as popular a bill as you've led some to believe. Would you answer that question and that's all I have to say.

SENATOR WARNER: Certainly. Right. 533 is one that sets the boundaries for the community technical colleges. I've indicated to the staff that we should have amendments drafted to 533 that will be consistent with the seven areas that are designated for funding in 259 and the Attorney General's office has been contacted to clarify exactly what needs to be passed so that 259 can be effective. It's also a possibility and I do not know yet, I speak of seven areas--eastern as you know was not funded by the Governor's bill. It is possible that even though there is no funding in the bill for eastern that if we pass the appropriate bill to establish the boundaries that eastern could operate on their 1 mill that they are already authorized but they would not be, could not accept or would not be in the position to accept any state funds and as far as my position on 533 at this moment is to draft whatever is necessary, if anything, which will make it consistent with 259 as it is appropriated which is to seven districts. And the position of eastern I do not know yet, depending on what the Attorney General's staff indicates. They could may well operate with no state funds.

PRESIDENT: Chair recognizes Senator Chambers. We're still debating the Warner motion.

SENATOR CHAMBERS: Mr. President and members of the Legislature, I just want to remind us that anything we do today we can undo tomorrow so if Senator Warner's motion is voted up today it can be voted down tomorrow. If it's voted against today, it doesn't make any difference because we're not going to adjourn sine die today anyway. There's no assurance that the budget bill will pass. On its first floor hurdle as it's described in the paper the vote was 37 to 8 to go along with it. Then when it came to the second stage the vote was 29 to 15. There were 8 fewer votes in favor of the action and almost twice as many against it as had been against it originally. So by the time we come for the Final Reading, people just don't have to vote for the budget bill. They don't have to vote no. It takes at least 25 votes to pass it--period. If it lost 8 votes between the first floor hurdle and the second one, it could easily lose 5 or even 6 votes by the time of Final Reading so that we will have time to do the other things that are needed to be done. And I think more Senators are beginning to realize that the budget, the Governor's budget bill is unrealistic. The number of amendments that the budget committee was going to offer shows that they were not satisfied with it. I'm surprised really that Senator Marvel and the rest of the budget committee along with the Legislature have thrown in the towel and knuckled under so completely to the Governor. He wins. In other parts of the country when this thing is talked about, Senator Carpenter said it will be discussed and I'm sure it will, it will be shown that the Governor controls the Legislature. If a poll were taken right now, it would be shown that overall as much as I dislike Mr. Exon, more people like Mr. Exon than like the Legislature, so he
